

Woodland Walk

In the morning we go walking through the woodland we stride See the Flora and the Forna in this green biome outside Nature calling, bugs are crawling Squirrels forage for food Berry picking, crickets clicking So much nature in the wood

See the fireflies glow where the mushrooms grow As the leaves tumble down in the fall
Where the ants all march up the chestnut bark To the sound of the cuckoo call.
See the owl's watching as the spider spins Her big web to catch all her prey
Where the badgers bark in the night so dark
And the bats all come out to play.

Birds are resting after nesting Looking after their young Streams are flowing, bulbs are growing As it warms up, spring is sprung Hedgehogs waking, hibernating Animals start to stir The hibernal and nocturnal Rise and shine for another year.

See the fireflies glow where the mushrooms grow As
the leaves tumble down in the fall
Where the ants all march up the chestnut bark To
the sound of the cuckoo call.
See the owl's watching as the spider spins Her
big web to catch all her prey
Where the badgers bark in the night so dark
And the bats all come out to play.
